Give your second gear a rest this summer

Summer SOHIO'S even flow of power makes frequent shifting unnecessary...

SUMMER SOHIO will take the fight out of many a second-gear hill. By stopping the knock, Sohio Ethyl gives you a smooth, even-powered motor that does not labor and run hot even on long, stiff grades.

Eliminating the knock is of prime importance to summer-time drivers. Knocking not only brings loss of power and danger of overheating; it also causes excessive vibration, subjecting the car to needless wear and tear and taking most of the pleasure out of driving.

Summer Sohio is especially refined to meet these exacting hot weather driving conditions. Try it in your own car—test it in your own way. Convince yourself that there IS a difference in gasoline!

For sale everywhere in Ohio—at more than 700 Standard service stations and by thousands of dealers. Stop where you see the familiar Red-White-and-Blue Standard colors.

Fourth of July "Don'ts."

The United States of America celebrates its independence in diverse ways. One unfortunate precedent has decreed that it be observed with a great deal of noise and hullabaloo, and thus it was done until the annual fatality list of maimed and dead reached such staggering proportions that an attempt was made to protect the citizenry against itself and regulations were suggested and put into effect to reduce the number of injuries.

The National Safety Council has prepared a list of Fourth of July "Don'ts" among which are the following admonitions:

Don't forget that the first proof of Fourth of July patriotism is home safety protection.
 Don't shut your eyes to real Fourth of July hazards—fireworks, automobile accidents, drownings, fires, firearms, falls and poisons.

Don't forget that your family might enjoy —as a safe and sane holiday—some of the out-of-doors country freedom for which our forefathers fought.

Don't fail to talk frankly with the children —tell them why fireworks in the hands of amateurs are always dangerous.

Don't neglect to tell your children that patriotism does not consist in making noise and life hazards.

Don't forget that it's worth a real effort to plan with your children a Fourth celebration that is exciting, but not dangerous.

Don't fail to prove your community patriotism by helping with a worth-while community celebration.

Don't forget, above all, that nearly all Fourth of July accidents can be prevented by the application of common sense.

"When Is a Man Old?"

Mr. Henry Ford's article in the current number of the Ladies Home Journal in which he sets out his preference as an employer for employees between the ages of thirty-five and sixty, has become the subject of widespread comment, both in print and by word of mouth.
 It is to be questioned if any magazine article in recent years has attracted wider attention among all classes of readers.

Mr. Ford prefaces the statement to which reference is made in the foregoing paragraph by stating that age has never meant anything to him either personally or in his relation to others. "We have employed hundreds of thousands of people in the past twenty-five years," he says, "and have had opportunity to learn the comparative value of youth and age in a cold dollar-and-cents way. As a result, we have come to think not of age at all, but only of the experience and the capacity to earn. Any one who stops learning is old—whether this happens at twenty or eighty. Any one who keeps on learning not only remains young, but becomes constantly more valuable, regardless of physical capacity."

"In point of fact, we should prefer, if we could make the choice, to have all our people between thirty-five and sixty years," is the way the great industrialist puts it, "for then we should have a stable and experienced force. We would not care how much over sixty the men were so long as they could do their work. Under no circumstances would we have a working force made up of only young men."

"It is absolutely necessary in order to get the work through, to have a solid framework of older and more experienced men who know exactly what they are doing."

"It is not to be expected that a man of seventy will have as much endurance as one of twenty-five. It is not at all necessary that he should have, for by the time a man has reached seventy he ought to have something a great deal more valuable than physical strength."

"The records of the employment department show that the work which calls for endurance is best served as a rule by men who are forty and over. Younger men seem to tire of jobs of this kind rather quickly and want to be transferred to lighter work."

"Having lived a number of years is a great advantage to any one if their years have brought a background of experience. It is usual to associate age with years because so many men and women somewhere along in what is called middle age stop trying. They let themselves go."

Such are some of the pertinent utterances of this illustrious manufacturer, who speaks from a knowledge of his subject gained by his experience both as an employer and an employer of labor. That his article has attracted the great attention that it has is no doubt due to the fact that the position he takes therein is diametrically opposed to a rather general present-day trend on the part of employers to hold that an employee's usefulness has reached its zenith at forty or forty-five.

This latter view, of course, is largely the result of the teachings of the efficiency people, and is followed in the main by those who, thus influenced, have become long on theory while lacking greatly in experience.
 This policy of the theoretic, which can not be proved other than utterly untenable under the test of experience, has never been adopted, and has been utterly repudiated, by Mr. Ford, who is one of the largest employers of paid labor of all history and has made himself the world's greatest man in pursuit of a policy utterly opposed to it.

All the facts considered, it is far easier to accept the Ford policy as the more worthy, backed as it is by experience and results, as set out in his answer to "When Is a Man Old?" It is far easier because it so coincides with the deductions of the average man from his own observations and experience.

 ask every person, and especially every nation, to assume full responsibility for all and all actions and obligations by such person or nation incurred. This it may be said, is a radical departure from the common European feeling. It is good to know that Europe is coming to its senses at last.

WILL THEY SOLVE THE PROBLEM DESPITE THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES?

Health and Cleanliness.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It is hardly more than a century ago that the citizen of Boston was not permitted to take ten baths a week without a doctor's order. In Philadelphia then, it was against the law to have a private bath without holding a special permit.
 A thing that holds the attention of a visitor to any of the old castles and palaces of Europe is that no provision was made for bathing. Taking a bath in olden times was something of a domestic ordeal. It upset the discipline of the entire routine of servants.

Today in some foreign lands it requires an order in advance to get the water into one of those great marble tubs. It is filled from basins carried by hand. I shall never forget the stifles of laughter caused by the description given by a doctor friend of mine of his experiences in getting a bath in a distant country.

Saturday night bathing continues to be a custom in many parts of America. You recall the old joke of the man who could hardly wait till Saturday to try his new bathtub.

I think often of the hard lot of the pioneer women. They had to endure everything their husbands did and besides that had to put up with the pioneer men!

Cleanliness is a matter of the greatest importance. Not only the exposed portions of the body, but every other part should be submitted to thorough and frequent cleansing.

It takes scrubbing, as well as soap and water, to make the dirt from the skin. It is not at all unusual to observe a dirty neck. The cheeks and forehead of that person may shine from effects of cleansing, but behind the ears there will be a month's accumulation of dirt.

There can not be perfect health without a perfectly functioning skin. The skin can not play its part unless it is thoroughly clean. That is the first essential.

Soak a good soap, one that agrees with your skin; apply it with a clean wash cloth. Then with an abundance of water you may hope to give yourself real cleanliness.

I am more and more impressed with the thought that we really neglect the skin. Half the time, certainly, the irritations of the face and neck are founded on lack of cleanliness.

Sun and air and water, soap and scrubbing, good food and simple living—these are the secrets of a good complexion.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. M. Q.—What makes my bones crack every time I move?

A.—This is due to a lack of synovial fluid stances this is a symptom of rheumatic tendency, and for this reason it would be wise to locate possible infection in the system.

Editorial Opinion.

LINDBERGH—A HINDRANCE?

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is not as much an aid to aviation as he is a hindrance. In the opinion of Richard Hughes, British poet, visiting in Boston. This is an unusual and somewhat surprising opinion. The fact, as he reasons it out, is not the colonel's. It comes from that her-worshiping publicity which the press has fostered upon him against his will in the journalistic effort to make Lindbergh a conqueror of the air. Reporters have emphasized the adventures of his flights in such a degree that the comparative safety of travel by air is obscured.

Lindbergh, in British eyes, is the Prince of Wales of America. To aviation, his is the adversing value of the Prince of Wales to the empire. Yet the addition of this public, secondary to our aviation, has done aviation a harm.
 When Lindbergh flies it is an adventure. Beyond postal routes and the achievements of the man who by night and day in regular service, the press, chroniclers of the colonel's unannounced hops across the globe in the public mind the impression that he is the pioneer of the sky and the blaze of the air trail.

He hoped off in New York and landed safely in Cleveland. Mr. Hughes doubts whether his adventures in the continental countries and the comparatively high price of air transportation in this country explains the failure of the public to accept planes as the conventional manner of rapid travel. Coming here from New York, the visitor was amazed when wholesale cancellations of passages came at the time for the take-off because of a slight mist settling down. Only one passenger accompanied him on the flight, and undoubtedly riding in his chair through the entire passage. The bad touch was the preparation by this passenger of a sheet of telegrams to be read on arrival, announcing that he had landed with a whole skin. For the advance and acceptance of aviation, therefore, Mr. Hughes joins those who would end the sage of the Lindbergh in the news columns and by his absence reduce aviation from adventure to humdrum travel from Boston to Oakland in maximum comfort.—Boston Transcript.

THE CASE OF DR. MACINTOSH.

The exclusion from citizenship of Dr. Douglas Charles Macintosh, for the last twenty years member of the faculty of the Yale University school is unfortunate and is to be regretted, but we do not see how the court could have admitted the man in face of his own statement. At the time of Mrs. Macintosh, the "snicker" was a reply to a query regarding the willingness of the applicant to take arms in national defense. Dr.
 Macintosh is not a pacifist, but he qualified his expression of assent by asserting that he would serve in a just cause, but not in an unjust war.

The honesty of the applicant is clear. Plainly he is a person of conscience and honor. Nevertheless his reply expresses an attitude of doubt which, in a way, is even more impossible than the general blanket pacifism of Mrs. Macintosh. Dr. Macintosh says by inference that he is not sure about the propriety of the United States and will not trust either its honor or judgment. He contemplates the possibility that it might lead itself to the furtherance of an unworthy cause or even engage in a war of predatory aggression, and under the circumstances he does not care to commit himself to wholesale support of its government.

Perhaps the doctor does not himself realize the force of his attitude, but it exists just the same, and the United States can not very well be expected to extend the privileges and protection of citizenship to a person, be he ever so generally desirable and high minded, who insists upon making a material reservation because he lacks faith in it.—Detroit Free Press.

Dinner Stories.

"What are your views on prohibition?"
 "I am a dry," said Senator Borah. "It appears to me that our dry brethren will appreciate moral support, while the wet seem able, more or less, to take care of themselves."

"Darling, you are the most beautiful woman in the world."
 "Oh, Harold, how quick you are to notice things!"

"Clarence," the madam called. He stopped the car and turned attentively.
 "Clarence, I am not used to calling chauffeurs by their first names. What is your last name?"

"Darling, mum?"
 "Drive on, Clarence."

"It says here that the Japanese can cook rice more than 200 ways."
 "So can my wife. But none of them are right."

"What is more terrible than a storm at sea?"
 "A suburban street car over a bad road bed."

"I think I ought to be paid what I'm worth, anyway," said the young clerk.
 "I do, too," said his boss patiently. "But I'd hate to see you trying to live on that."

Gibraltar, the Rock.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Slowly our boat creeps through the night.
 The warm waters of the Atlantic curve away from the bow with a murmured sigh.
 Suddenly, far ahead on the starboard bow, a light is lit. It is the light-house on Cape Spartel, Morocco, the lighthouse which guides navigation safely through the entrance to the Strait of Gibraltar.

The story of Cape Spartel Light is interesting. For many years ship after ship plied up on the rocky approach to the strait. When so light was added them, sailors were faced with a difficult task in passing safely between the "Pillars of Hercules." The Sultan of Morocco, with a certain amount of logic, if not humanitarianism, argued that his country should not be called upon to erect a light-house solely for the benefit of other nations.
 Finally, however, the Sultan proposed that the great nations of Europe plan a light and agree to maintain it. If they would do this, he said, his country would undertake to do the actual construction.

And so it was agreed, and the result was one of the finest lights along the south European or Mediterranean coast. And so it is that as the traveler approaches Gibraltar in the night he will first see the twinkling eye of Cape Spartel.

And now day has dawned and we catch our first glimpse of Europe. Cape Trafalgar on the Spanish coast, appears first. This, incidentally, is the headland guarding the bay in which Lord Nelson fought his famous naval battle back in 1805. After passing Cape Trafalgar we approach Tarifa and there, rounding the promontory, the Rock of Gibraltar appears in full view, silhouetted against the bright blue of the Mediterranean sky. The other Pillar of Hercules—Calpe—rises on the Moroccan coast.

There is always a current through the Strait of Gibraltar, despite the fact that there is practically no tide in the Mediterranean.
 The surface evaporation of this almost landlocked sea causes a steady flow from the Atlantic. At times the current runs as high as six miles an hour.

Perhaps no spot in the world has been fought for as many times as Gibraltar. Its strategic position is invaluable. It is truly the key to the Mediterranean. The very early history of Gibraltar has been lost, but it is known that in 1309 the Castilians took it from the Moors, who retained it, only to lose it to the Spaniards in 1462. Later the British captured it, and although they were defeated several times, they managed to maintain their hold.

The north, east and south sides of the rock are considered inaccessible. On the western side the slope is more gradual, and it is here that the city of Gibraltar nestles. The city is one of the world's "smoking towns," and on the streets will be found representations of practically every nation of the world, and many of them in their picturesque native costumes. There is, of course, a good sprinkling of British soldiers from the Gibraltar barracks.

If one can secure permission to ascend to the signal tower atop the rock, far above the honeycomb cellars, where the British cannon lie in waitfulness, one may enjoy a remarkable view. To the north are the mountains of Ronda, more to the east are the Sierra mountains around Granada, and to the west, across the Bay of Gibraltar, the Spanish town of Algeiras.

In this article I have sketched the high points of Gibraltar. The city itself, unique, bizarre and colorful as it is, should be described further, and that I shall do in my next article.—Copyright, 1929, Newspaper

Man's Dream Comes True With Successful Launching of Cabin Cruiser

Designed and built by Earl Ruhlman, of Summit St.

The boat was launched in Lake Erie by means of a large truck trailer constructed for the purpose. Saturday morning the boat was towed into the waters of Lake Erie by means of a large boom. So successful had Ruhlman's plan been that the boat was nearly perfect.

Plans Ideal Vacation

Ruhlman decided last summer, after spending his vacation on Lake Erie in a small motor boat, that his ideal vacation could be spent in a boat with a cabin on it that would permit him to eat, sleep and cruise in it.

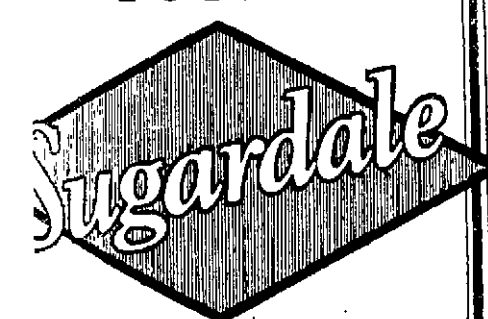

He looked at boat catalogues, and found one that just suited him, with one exception—the price. This particular craft was quoted at $7,050. He is a craftsman and a painter, and also had a few ideas of his own after delving several weeks in boat-

Idono Performs Almost Perfectly in Trial Operations on Lake Erie

He bought a tree from that tree, he built a stem, which is the curved portion of the front of a boat that guides the water when the boat is moving. He built some branches on this tree, and today has a boat completed that may mean the realization of his ideal vacation.

Started Last Fall

Ruhlman started early last fall to fashion his dream boat in his workshop in the rear of his home, where he also does auto painting and repairing.

A Peerless automobile engine, a V-type eight-cylinder affair, was remodeled to answer the requirements of a marine motor. A water cooling system was devised to use lake or river water to maintain a satisfactory motor temperature.

To begin with, 60 ribs had to be cut, curved and stained. Then came the job of forcing 38 sub-iron planks to assume the form of a well balanced craft.

Construction Material

Three colors are used on the interior, while nearly a dozen varieties of wood were used in the boat construction. Copper nails and brass screws were used to prevent rusting. The boat is estimated to weigh three tons, and draws about two feet of water.

Two 20 gallon gasoline tanks will carry sufficient fuel to cruise 200 or more miles, and a 50 gallon clear water storage tank provides drinking

If Course of Treatments Fails to Give Satisfaction

See good list to the stinging pain, the dull aches, the crippling handicaps of rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, lumbago, sciatica and neuritis. The Course of Treatments with Transkutan, marvelous new German discovery, is positively guaranteed to drive the aches and pains out of your system and greatly improve use of hands, legs and feet, or money back.

No matter how long you have suffered—or how many other things you have already tried—Transkutan treatments, in sequence as directed, in the full course, will positively bring you blessed relief, or it costs you nothing.

According to German medical authorities, the Transkutan treatments act quickly to break up and drive out rheumatic poisons and to relieve sore, lame muscles, throbbing, irritated nerves, and painful swollen joints. You can start this wonderful course of treatments right in your own home this very night if you have bathing facilities available, and should quickly regain your earning power and normal dexterity.

Why endure the agony another day? Start this very day. Get Free Booklet describing how the treatments work, what they do, and what you must do to get the full benefit—or your money back. Expense? Yes! In a war, but worth victory more. If your activities can go on regularly without fear of being cut off by the old rheumatic attacks, Henne & Cooper, 130 West Center St.—Adv.

and wash water for a sizeable cruise. The boat is entirely satisfactory, Ruhlman said, with one exception—that is the size of the screw used to propel the boat. Engineers recommended a 20-inch screw for the motor used, but Ruhlman finds the motor propeller will give more flexibility and permit a speed of about 20 miles an hour. The boat is steered by an automobile wheel constructed towards the front of the boat. The driver sits in an automobile seat, protected by a heavy windshield. Canopies protect him from inclement weather.

Ruhlman stated that he has been negotiating for the sale of the boat, in spite of the fact that he contemplated a cruise in it this fall. The trip, as he plans it, would carry him and his wife and another couple on a trip from Sandusky to Cleveland, from there to Buffalo, where the boat would enter the Erie canal, cruise down the Hudson river, and terminate the journey at the Statue of Liberty. The return trip would be made over the same route.

A smaller motor boat was returned from a boathouse on the lake to Marlow where Ruhlman will reconstruct it. He plans to continue work on boats here during the winter months, when auto work is not in such demand.

FIRE CHIEF HITS AT STORE CELLULOID

Columbus Fireman Cites "Serious Menace" in Combs and Other Articles

COLUMBUS, July 2—Considerable comment was occasioned today by a speech made by Fire Chief J. A. Welch, Columbus, at a meeting of engineers, underwriters, physicians, professors and state officials on the subject of X-ray film storage, in which Welch declared that "a serious menace exists in the display of nitro-cellulose articles in 5 and 10-cent stores."

The conference, called with a view to eliminating another tragedy such as the Cleveland Clinic disaster, in which more than a hundred and a score of persons lost their lives, was addressed by Welch, who is head of the fire prevention bureau of the local department.

"In addition to the hazards of improper X-ray film storage in hospitals and clinics, a far greater danger exists in the sale and storage of plastics known to the trade as celluloid, ivory, and such articles in the 5 and 10-cent stores and 51 stores over the world," said the fire chief.

Every city of any size in the country and many other countries has its "five and ten" where girls daily sell celluloid combs and other articles, highly explosive, and of a great danger to the city and its inhabitants, declared Welch. He told of a fire in such a store where poisonous gases from celluloid articles affected the eyesight of 25 firemen.

Bucyrus Plans Annual Municipal Picnic at City Park

EXPECT MORE THAN 1,500 AT OUTING

Additional Picnic Tables Will Accommodate Large Crowd

WORKMEN BUSY

New Washington Village Arranges Old-Fashioned Fourth

BUCYRUS, July 2.—J. A. Patton, president of Aumiller Park Association, announced today that a general meeting of all park committees would be held late this afternoon or tonight for the purpose of completing plans for the second municipal picnic to be held at the park July 4 to which every resident of Crawford county is invited. The meeting will be held in Mayor Schuler's office.

The park grounds are being put in shape to accommodate what is expected to be the largest crowd ever assembled at the new park despite the fact that more than 1,500 attended the opening ceremony last summer. City workmen have been removing unsightly underbrush and several new trees in an effort to make the grounds more attractive. Other workmen have been employed this week in moving the entire grounds.

The outstanding improvement at the park this year is the purchase last week of 20 additional picnic tables which will accommodate approximately 200 persons. The tables were purchased out of the fund appropriated to the park by the city council last winter.

While Bucyrus is spending the Fourth at Aumiller Park elaborate plans are being completed at New Washington for a huge gathering in that village for an old-fashioned celebration.

"Month of Brides" Sets Record Here With Total of 75 Marriage Licenses

Believed To Be Highest Mark in History of Marion County

WHAT is thought to be a new all-time record was set by the marriage license bureau in probate court here in June, the "month of brides," when 75 licenses were issued. This exceeded the record of June, 1925, by 20. The divorce court ran far behind the marriage license bureau, records in the clerk of courts office show. Seven divorces were granted and 11 suits were filed for divorce. The month came to a very close as far as the marriage license bureau was concerned. The following licenses were issued shortly before the month ended:

CONTAGIOUS DISEASE TOTAL REMAINS HIGH

16 Cases Listed in City During June; Rural Situation More Favorable

Marion apparently shared with other sections of the state in the increase of cases of communicable diseases during June. Sixteen cases were reported to the office of Dr. W. J. Weaver, city health commissioner.

Three were measles, 2,200 cases were reported. Of these, 2,200 cases were reported.

Marion county, outside the city limits, was more fortunate last month. This is the indication of records in the office of Dr. N. S. Smith, county health commissioner.

Only six cases were reported to the county office in June. Three of these cases were chicken pox, two were measles and one was smallpox. No deaths resulted from contagious diseases in the county area.

According to information received from the state health department, 37,401 persons were ill in Ohio as a result of contagious diseases in June. Measles led the list with 17,744 cases.

There were 2,224 cases of chicken pox, 2,200 cases of whooping cough, 1,150 of scarlet fever, 1,150 of tuberculosis, 947 of mumps, 723 of small pox, 521 of diphtheria, 292 of occupational diseases, and 6,922 cases of other diseases.

State health authorities state that the number ill with communicable diseases during June exceeded by 1,300 the number ill from the same cause last year. Among the children there has been a greater prevalence of measles, whooping cough, and chicken pox, health officials declare.

Smallpox is showing a decrease in the number of cases.

AUDITOR MAILS OUT FORMS FOR BUDGETS

Officials of Taxing Districts Instructed To List Needs for 1930

County Auditor Earl F. Thomas today mailed budget forms and school report forms to all taxing districts in the county. The budget forms were sent to township, school board, village and city clerks while the school report forms went to school clerks only.

On the budget blanks clerks will list the expected needs of their district for 1930. The school reports will cover the financial condition of the various schools at the end of the last fiscal year on June 30.

Clerks have been advised to return two copies of the budget and one of the school report to the county auditor. The budgets are due to be returned to the auditor by July 15. The school reports are to be returned by July 10.
